Spring/Summer 2025

As the world turns, we are reminded of the beauty in change. The seasons shift, and we feel the crisp air of spring's whispers of renewal. As the golden morning light spills across dewy gardens, we witness flower petals bursting open like tiny slow-motion fireworks. We inhale the scent of blooming flowers carried on a cool breeze, rich and sweet. Indoors we create sanctuaries of green, bringing life into our living spaces. Leaves unfurl in quiet corners, softening the edges of our rooms. A windowsill becomes a stage for sprouting herbs, their scent mingling with the sunlight.

As the earth unfurls its infinite creativity: green shoots pushing determinedly through the soil, the rustle of budding leaves, the hum of life awakening after winter's slumber, we cherish the continuity of this ever-changing rhythm. We breathe. We pause. We marvel at the gentle sprout of a new leaf, the triumphant bloom of a flower defying winter's grip.

From the heart of our hands to the heart of your home, our pots are born of passion and purpose. Rooted in tradition, and crafted with care, they embrace both the past and the now. Each design is a celebration of nature's resilience and beauty, ready to cradle your greenery as it reaches for the light.

Since 1942, Bergs Potter has crafted for those who cherish the soul-soothing art of thriving in the presence of lush, growing greenery. Join us to make your world a little greener, a little more vibrant, and forever more beautiful.

KØBENHAVNER VASE

The København Vase is a natural progression of Bergs Potter's iconic København pot. Designed by the second generation of Bergs, Steffen Berg, it draws inspiration from the majestic pottery made for the Royal Danish Palace of Fredensborg in 1860. Born in conjunction with a glass artisan workshop with a century of expertise, this vase is a tribute to accuracy and artistry. The København Vase combines Bergs Potter's design heritage with a new material blending royal pottery and modern glasswork.

PANTHEON

The Pantheon pot pays homage to the iconic dome that soars into the sky with timeless grandeur at the Pantheon in Rome. Just as the Pantheon dome captivates with its geometric coffered ceiling, the Pantheon pots feature symmetrical rows of coffers delicately carved into the surface. These simple yet sophisticated patterns wrap around the slender cylinder in repeating patterns, bringing the stunning Pantheon dome to life.

ATLAS

The Atlas Pot in sturdy terracotta, designed to stand on the shoulders of its saucer counterpart. Inspired by the legendary Titan Atlas, who carried the weight of the heavens on his shoulders, this pot is characterised by its repeating circular patterns of vertical lines, symbolising the arduous and perpetual task of its mythological namesake.

GAIA

The Gaia Pot is our modern reimagining of our iconic 'Melon Pot' design from years past. With its sleek, square shape, Gaia exudes a modern, architectonic vibe that complements any space. Discreet feet placed in each corner gently lift the saucer so that the pot floats gracefully, creating a delicate illusion of effortless weightlessness. Gaia - where design heritage materialises in a razor-sharp form that brings stylish elegance to its surroundings.

SIMONA

This romantic pot materialized in the head of Steffen Berg as he strolled through flea markets in Montmartre. The aesthetics of our sweet Parisienne are reminiscent of the classic French homes and gardens of the 19th century. Today, our petit 'pot de fleur' is gently shaped by the hands of our Tuscan potters.

CAMPANA

The Italian word for bell – Campana – perfectly describes the shape of the majestic outdoor pot. The Campana series has the largest planters produced by Bergs Potter for 'al fresco' use.

The plant pot has a clean yet full-bodied appearance
- and the rounded edges give Campana a soft look.

POT FEET

It is essential to have pot feet for proper drainage of any pot placed outdoors, enabling any excess water to leave the container by way of the hole at the bottom. This also keeps any insects from harming the roots of the plant when it is raised a bit from the ground.

We design pot feet that complement the appearance of all of our large outdoor pots.
